CPD - Continuous Professional Development for Educators:

Global CPD offers a range of relevant and effective on-site continuing professional development options for teachers, ESL specialists, educational consultants and school administrators. Unless stated otherwise, all Global CPD trainings are 5-day in-service courses for a class of maximum 16 participants.

CTS - Certificate of Teaching Skills:

Certificate of Teaching Skills courses cater for teachers in English-medium K-12 and university education contexts in non-English speaking countries through a solid program of needs analysis, setting short, medium and long-term goals for better quality education and provision of training programs with follow-up support.

EMI - English-Medium Instruction:

EMI school concept refers to the use of the English language to teach academic subjects (other than English itself) in countries where the first language is not English.

CPD Process:

Global CPD participants observe experienced trainers delivering theoretical and practical courses and workshops with pre and post training evaluation of performance. We consider issues in evaluating teaching and the effectiveness of training. Global CPD works with trainers and academic managers from a range of contexts, identifying and addressing key issues and good practice in your institutions. As a principle, we work collaboratively and we cover materials relevant to your teaching context, make observations and give feedback.
